DR. JAMES M. BROADBENT

Orthodontist of Provo
Heads State Group

Dr. James M. Broadbent, a Provo orthodontist, has been elected president of the Utah Orthodontic Society.

Elections were held at the annual meeting of the Utah Orthodontic Society which was held in Salt Lake City in conjunction with the Utah Dental Association meeting.

The Utah Orthodontic Society is affiliated with the regional Rocky Mountain Society of Orthodontists and the national American Association of Orthodontists. At the annual meeting, Dr. James Evans, a clinical instructor from Loyola University, lectured on the "newer" removable braces and regular braces. These "newer" braces have been used in Europe for a long time and have recently been gaining rapid acceptance in the U.S. Tooth changes and changes in jaw relationships may be made with these new appliances which are used in conjunction with "regular braces."

Dr. Broadbent has practiced child and adult orthodontics in Provo since 1973. He graduated from Brigham Young University and completed his training in general dentistry at Northwestern University Dental School. He then completed a rotating dental internship at the University of Kentucky. Returning to Northwestern University, Dr. Broadbent served as an associate professor and practiced general dentistry in Chicago. Later, Dr. Broadbent completed a clinical orthodontic program and was awarded a M.S. degree from Northwestern.
